Description
What's the problem? Describe what went wrong.
Dolphin usually saves the state of pop-up windows. The "Update available" window doesn't seem to have this behavior. The "Update available" pop-up window should remember its size and position.
What steps will reproduce the problem?
1. Click on help 2. Click on check for updates 3. Resize pop-up window 4. Close the window and repeat from step 1 5. Notice state of the "update available" window not being remembered
Is the issue present in the latest development version? For future reference, please also write down the version number of the latest development version.
Tested using Dolphin 5.0-11770
Is the issue present in the latest stable version?
Yes
